

Information on Rights Management

For your manuscript submitted to Alfons W. Gentner Verlag for publication in ASU, the publisher requires your confirmation of compliance with the ethics guidelines, to declare any conflict of interest and to clarify the scope of rights.

With my signature on page 3 I confirm the following conditions:

1. Copyright Information

I have taken the necessary care to ensure that the content of the work is correct.

I have explicitly confirmed compliance with the copyright regulations regarding the content used (texts, images, graphics, drawings) with the respective sources. However, the publisher is ultimately liable for any copyright infringements.

This article has not been published elsewhere in whole or in part, nor has it been submitted for publication to other journals/publishers.

AI-Rules: If you use AI in the creation of your article, please observe the relevant rules at <https://www.gentner.de/gentner-intern-ki-regeln> (Login with gentner-extern/gentner$131!).

2. Information on the Conflict of Interest

Authors who have a economic or personal connection to a company or organization with which there is a content overlap with the topic of the article are subject to a possible conflict of interest.

In order to objectify the process of publishing articles in ASU as well as the specialist discussion about them and to ensure maximum transparency, such relationships from the past three years are published in ASU.

With my signature, I, as sole/corresponding author, declare that I and/or my co-authors have had no economic or personal connections in the above sense during the last three years.

The declaration of conflict of interest is a necessary prerequisite for the acceptance and publication of your manuscript in ASU. Complete your manuscript at the end with one of the following two statements on conflict of interest:

- Conflict of interest: no conflict of interest declared.
- Conflict of interest: The authors declare that within the past 3 years ... (e. g. “served on an advisory board of XY”/ “received research support from XY”/“received lecture fees from XY”/“held shares in the company XY” or similar).

3. Good Scientific Practice

Our journal ensures scientific integrity and is guided by the “Guidelines for Safeguarding Good Scientific Practice” of the German Research Foundation (DFG) and the Committee on Publication Ethics \(COPE\).

The protection of personal data of individuals must be observed. The main instruments are the pseudonymization or anonymization of the data records. Another option is the consent of the data subjects in accordance with national law and in accordance with the Declaration of Helsinki (German Version | English Version).

An ethics vote must always be submitted if studies are to be conducted on humans, on material taken from humans or with identifiable personal data material or with identifiable personal data. This information must be included at the end of the publication at the end of the publication.

Authors are obliged to comply with the provisions of the Animal Welfare Act and the Laboratory Animal Ordinance. The evaluation and presentation of experiments with laboratory animals should be carried out with established national und international standards.

4. Rights Management

With my signature I agree to the scope of rights described below for my contribution, including images, tables, graphics etc.: Alfons W. Gentner Verlag holds the exclusive rights for a first publication, so that the author/team of authors can only offer the contribution to third parties after consultation with Alfons W. Gentner Verlag. Corresponding agreements are made on a case-by-case basis by means of permission to reprint, which Alfons W. Gentner Verlag can grant on request. As the rights holder, Alfons W. Gentner Verlag may grant printing permission to third parties without consulting the author.

For the publishing business, Alfons W. Gentner Verlag does not require any rights to sell the contribution to third parties for their purposes in a kind of agency business.

The contribution may be edited in accordance with the respective requirements of the publisher's print and digital products while preserving the moral rights of the author (such as the right to be named and the protection against distortion of the contribution) and optimized for the purpose of SEO optimization (search engine optimization) and translated into English if necessary. I will approve the final version of the article before printing or digital publication.

The article may be reproduced and distributed in analog/digital form for publishing purposes. This also includes public accessibility via external databases (digital), including distribution via social media such as Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, YouTube, etc.

The article may also be reprinted in all other titles published by Alfons W. Gentner Verlag (title overview: www.gentner.de/unsere-marken).

5. Fee for Authors

The fee for publication in the ASU media system (print and online) is EUR 50.00 per printed page in the magazine (only for practice-oriented articles). In the case of multiple authors, the fee is paid to the corresponding author. You will be sent a corresponding form as part of the proofreading process, in which the necessary details can be entered.
